

LONE STAR IS MAKING EXTRA FINE SHOWING

Large Tonnage of Ore Blocked And Compressor Building Well Under Way

Building for the new hoisting plant and air compressor at the Lone Star property of the Lone Star is well under way and will be completed about the middle of September. According to Gerald B. Hargrove, superintendent for the company, when this work has been completed the operations of a new headframe and the commencing of the shaft to the 200 foot level will be commenced and resided, as the management wants to put the mine on a producing basis as quickly as possible.

The showing in the mine is good, but according to Mr. Hargrove, with further development work a large tonnage of mill ore will be expected. There is a possibility of obtaining a high grade of ore, which has produced a large tonnage of mill ore. At present there is blocked out in the mine and on the dump are approximately in value $500,000, with ore in all places and ground and in the bottom of the shaft, which is 200 feet deep. Further development will block out ore rapidly according to Mr. Hargrove, and that ore is held for a sale, and a large tonnage of ore is being developed.

Shaking will be resumed just as soon as the remaining of the shaft has been completed. Other work on the property, driving of a tunnel in the Elwood claim and the sinking of a shaft on the Tangle claim, is progressing satisfactorily and good savings are being obtained.

The ore bodies of the Lone Star are in true fissures between massive porphyry dikes running north and south. These fissures can be traced for thousands of feet. The Sierra Vista mine to the south is on the same vein system as well as the King property to the north. Both of these properties have large bodies of ore blocked out and are under intensive development.

It is the intention of the Lone Star to build a concentrating mill in the near future to treat its own ore and at the same time take custom ore from other properties if the companies owning them do not build mills as they are planning to do.

WILLIAM RUSSELL AT THE BUTLER TODAY

William Russell will open at the Butler today in a film version of Sewell Ford's "Cherub Divine." The picture is called "Money to Burn" and details the experiences, in love and finance, of a young Wall Street man who is a plunger in both. The young speculator, Russell, as those who have read the book will recall, was born under so lucky a star that he cannot lose in the stock market, however careless he may be in his investments. And when he buys merely to relieve ennui a country estate on Long Island which he has never seen, there, too, his proverbial luck stands by him—for there he encounters, on a visit of inspection, the "only girl." Also on today's program a two-reel Mack Sennett comedy, "Gymnasium Jim."

Tomorrow The last episode of "Miracles of the Jungle" and a diversified program of short and snappy subjects.

Monday, Cecil B. De Mille's big picture, "Fools Paradise."

TO THE VOTERS OF TONOPAH TOWNSHIP

Ladies and gentlemen, I hardly think it necessary for me to introduce myself to you at this time, as I have lived in Nevada since 1872 and have been a resident and taxpayer in Nevada for the last twenty years. However, for the benefit of the people who do not know me, I will state that I fully understand the meaning of the word, "Justice," and it is my policy to give justice to whom justice is due. During my term of office I have been ready at all times, day or night, to serve the people, and will continue to do so if re-elected. I respectfully ask the support of my old and new friends when they enter the booth at the primary election next Tuesday. Respectfully,
W. T. CUDDY.

TO THE VOTERS OF NEVADA

I desire to convey to you my sense of duty regarding a few of the many problems confronting the citizens of the United States today.

The problems of labor are inseparable to the relation of one man to one job. If every man were true to his job, and every job a square deal, labor problems would disappear.

Economy in labor costs is practical only by giving labor a larger return, particularly in merchandise which dollars will buy. In that way only can consumption increase and production return to normal.

The Esch-Cummings Transportation Act of 1920 is inimical to the best interests of Nevada. I favor such a revision as will give us the benefits we are entitled to.

A government is always a reflection of the people—just to the extent you demand fair play—just to that extent will you get it.

Citizenship carries with it duties and responsibilities, and one of the most important of these is the duty of the ballot. The representation you have at Washington depends upon you, therefore, do not lose your vote either at the Primary or the General Election.

The very keynote of a democracy is the safeguarding of personal liberty. Bearing directly upon the question of personal liberty we have another political question of serious moment—that is, local self-government as opposed to over-much centralized government.

Surely we, the people of the State of Nevada, who live here, work here, and raise our children here, are better qualified to guide the destinies of our State than some misguided theorist living some thousands of miles away.

In conclusion I ask for your support in the Primary Election, September 5th, as a candidate for the Republican nomination for the United States Senate. I represent no clique, no faction. I am a plain business man, standing squarely upon my own feet, and if nominated and elected, I will represent the whole State of Nevada, and give the job that common sense attention that I give to my own business.

Respectfully yours,

PETER BUOL

What a Republican Editor Thinks Of a Democratic Candidate

(By J. Holman Buck, in Western Nevada Miner.)

According to all reports, our old friend, Senator H. W. Huskey, of Washoe County, is putting up a great scrap for the Democratic nomination for representative in congress, and Huskey is some scrapper, if anybody should ask you. And Western Nevada Miner will state right here that if Nevada is to be represented in the lower house at the National Capitol at Washington by a Democrat there is no one that could make a better job of it than Senator W. H. Huskey. His experience as a member of the Nevada Assembly and Senate has given him a legislative training that would be invaluable in his labors in Congress. It is a certainty that if elected there would be no loading on the job, as this was demonstrated while he was a member of both the Assembly and Senate, for he was one of the hardest workers and most conscientious members of those bodies. He is the father of some of the most important laws on the statute books today. We have only two faults to find with Huskey: One is that he is a Democrat, the other is that he is the daddy of the Nevada primary law, upon which a large majority of people will upon both points disagree with us. Strange as it may seem, Huskey is not only a good lawyer, but a keen business man, and has been highly successful since his advent as a citizen of Nevada in June, 1904. Mr. Huskey is progressive and a consistent booster for the upbuilding of a greater Nevada. His intimate knowledge of irrigation and agriculture and the need of reclaiming the waste places of Nevada would make him a valuable member of Congress on matters pertaining to reclamation. He is likewise thoroughly posted on mining and could be depended upon to fight for and safeguard the metal mining industry of the West. He is a man of broad views, represents all the people and not special classes, is a hard and conscientious worker, and a good fighter, and should the Democrats nominate him as their standard bearer, the Republican candidate will have his work cut out for him.
